Meet Anthony

Hi, I'm Anthony—a photographer passionate about capturing authentic, powerful moments that tell a story. Specializing in athletic and fitness settings, I use natural lighting and a candid approach to highlight the emotion, intensity, and determination of my subjects.

My work has been featured in USA Today, the Philadelphia Inquirer, NJ.com, and the Adirondack Winery's annual calendar. When I'm not behind the lens, I'm a proud New Jersey native, a former rugby player turned Crossfitter, and a devoted husband and father.

Client Testimonials

As a new CrossFit athlete, having Anthony there to capture the journey has been an absolute game-changer for my confidence and excitement. Seeing his photos after a WOD or competition reminds me of how far I've come and fuels my motivation to keep pushing harder.

Anthony's incredibly skilled, making everyone feel at ease and blends seamlessly into the environment. His enthusiasm for the sport is contagious, and it shows in every shot he takes.

Anthony has a tremendous ability to capture meaningful family moments. We've worked with him for two years now and have appreciated how easy he is to work with, how well he communicates with our young son, and his great eye for high-quality photography. Our friends and family love the photos we share!

Client Testimonials

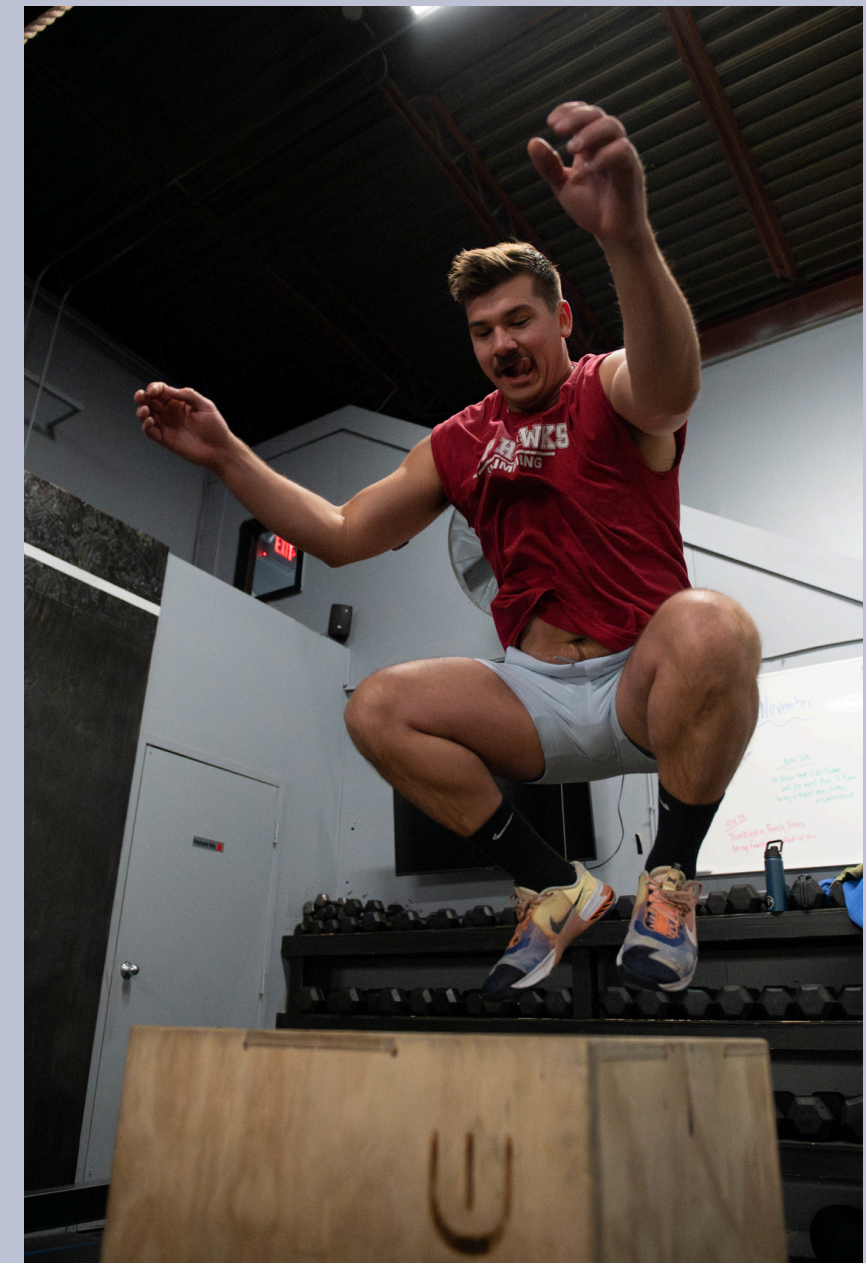

I can't recommend Anthony enough! He has an incredible ability to capture the energy, determination, and camaraderie of our gym community. His photos don't just make us look great—they tell the story of who we are as a community. Whether it's action shots during intense workouts or candid moments that highlight the spirit of our classes, his work always stands out. Anthony is an extremely talented and tasteful artist.

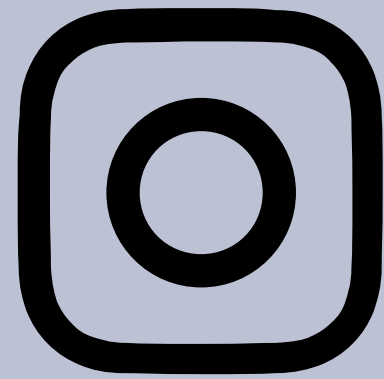

-- Jason Bodman

As a photographer, the way he's able to go unnoticed while taking dozens of shots, capturing genuine emotion from behind the lens, shows this isn't just a job for him, it's a passion to capture these moments.
